| Extensions of time may be obtained under 37 CFR 1.136(a). The date on which the petition under 37 CFR 1.136(a) and the appropriate extension fee have been filed is the date for purposes of determining the period of extension and the corresponding amount of the fee. The appropriate extension fee under 37 CFR 1.17(a) is calculated from: (1) the expiration date of the shortened statutory period for reply originally set in the final Office action; or (2) as set forth in (b) above, if checked. Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of the final rejection, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b). Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: The prior position of record is maintained. Also, in response to the applicant's argument directed towards a lack of motivation for combining the prior art of record (Amendment, Pages 10-12), the examiner points out that such a motivation is provided by the Gao reference (U.S. Patent: 6,449,590), as was noted in the previous office action (Pages 3-4). Lee et al ("A Very Low Bit Rate Speech Coder Based on a Recognition/Synthesis Paradigm," 2001) teaches generating pitch contour candidates (see prior office action, Page 3), while Gao discloses a time-warping function that modifies the start and end points of a pitch contour candidate (see prior office action, Pages 3-4) (such as those taught by Lee). The use of such a time warping function provides the benefit of better matching a pitch contour approximation to an original pitch contour by determining optimal start and ending times for a pitch contour segment candidate (prior office action, Page 4). Also, the method taught by Gao is capable of being applied to any type of time period segment (Col. 42, Lines 17-34). It is further noted that the Gao reference is only relied upon for the use of a time warping function that is applied to a linear pitch approximation segment for the above noted benefit. Thus, for at least the above reasons, the previous rejection is maintained.
